

Youth Leadership Program (YLP) – Toastmaster

Teenagers are often more comfortable communicating electronically than speaking face to face. Yet many events in teenagers' lives require interpersonal communication skills to be resolved successfully. Now, more than ever, they need guidance in developing their communication skills. Therefore, RAIS intends to have a Youth Leadership Program conducted by a local Toastmaster club (Diamond Club) for 25 students from ages 10 – 19 to enable them:

- ✓ Overcome nervousness when speaking before an audience.
- ✓ Organize and present ideas logically and convincingly.
- ✓ Listen carefully to others' ideas.
- ✓ Participate in and lead group discussion or meetings.
- ✓ Offer advice to help others improve their speaking and leadership skills.

All these skills are necessary for earning a living in today's competitive job market, but are also essential for maintaining healthy personal relationships and achieving academic goals in middle & high school and college.

Rowad Alkhaleej International Schools was chosen to become a shareholder in the International Olympics. The IO is the strongest scientific competition for students around the world. It's an annual event held every summer in various countries. There are over 100 countries participating in this event. The program focuses on math, physics, chemistry and science. This program is directly affiliated with the Mawhiba Institute. As part of the requirements, we administer the test to students from grades 5-7. Based on the results, the students that receive the highest score will get the opportunity to participate in the math and science Olympics. We sent the test with the results to the institute and we are still waiting for the results.
